GREET DEFENDS HIS ACT.

Editor El Paso Herald:
An advertisement for Edwards in the Times of this date states that one of Mr. Hall's office deputies was a star character witness for Max Miller. As I am the only one that went to Abilene from this office I take it that this article refers to me. The record of the testimony in this case, which is on file in the district clerk's office, shows that I was asked if I had heard the reputation of Max Miller as a peaceable and quiet man or a dangerous and violent man discussed prior to the killing, and I said that I had not. I was asked if it was the custom to keep a gun back of the bar in a saloon and I said that it was. Respectfully,
